“ The smile, raising of the eyes and that gorgeous hair some of the first things one may initially see, yet he was always appreciative of caregivers that are more like family and friends. His children and grandson provided beautiful support and advocacy and this honored him and touched him beyond words. He loved and had faith in our Lord and he is still being healed of MS today. May you know my prayers for you continue during this time of loss. Be so proud of the care and respect you gave him. He was.
