“ A loving family women who cared for those close to her heart. Since i' ve been alive, she kept the Nagy/Switney traditions of my grandma Switbey alive with the love of all things food. She used baking and cooking as easy to bring those she loved together and carried down the recipes of soup and cabbage from family to new generations. Being in Cadillac was a great escape from down river and a way to connect with both nature and family. Many fond memories spent around family up at her cabin in the woods. Much love and peace surrounds her as she' s up in heaven with her late husbands, sister, granddaughter and parents watching over the rest of us here. You are missed

“ My memories growing up will always include up north trips to Aunt Joan's! All the cousins hanging out and getting in trouble through out the woods, coming home just in time for Aunt Joan to tell us it's time to pick some berries for jam or desserts! She also introduced me to cinnamon sugar toast 🍞 and that is my go-to to this day. You always went out of your way to show kindness to all (family, friends, strangers)! What a big heart! Your extended family continues your tradition of showing kindness to all and that will continue to be one of your many gifts and reminders of what a great woman, mother, friend you were to all. Love you Aunt Joan

“ Who could forget all those wonderful meals that Joan prepared for her family and visitors. Of course the more family and visitors the better. For holidays there was the motherload of soups with meat and vegetables, for the holidays, there was the oyster stew and shrimp, venison fondu, and for visiting guests, there was the grandma cabbage. All of this was followed with homemade raspberry pie or carrot cake. But it wasn't so much the food itself as good as it was, but Joan's sharing of all her efforts to please her family and guests. All will be missed, but most of all Joan herself.
