“ As her second grandson, it was genuinley a shock to hear about her death during a trip to England. I mean, we knew it was coming, but she was hoping to see me at my High School Graduation, and I wish that as well. As was said in an Ed Wood movie, " All of us on this earth know that there is a time to live and that there is a time to die, yet death is always a shock." That quote from one of the ' worst films of all time' couldn' t ring more true for me than here.
