“ My mind has been running amuck with memories of Aunt Norma and one of the first is when my sister and I would go stay with Aunt Norma and Uncle Gus at their house just south of the ball fields in Tustin. They were living in the basement while finishing the upstairs and she had kitty' s that would sit upon her slippers in the morning. We would bake potato chip cookies and maybe that was what brought about my love for potato chips. Another time she and I went to Bay City for a wedding of a great-niece, it was nice to have someone to go to those distant family events and have time to visit along the way. In more recent years we talked about baking again and how she made her fruitcake cookies and also the colorful church windows cookies with chocolate and colored marshmallows. Aunt Norma liked to bake and even the last year or 2 that is what she would talk about and wish she still could. I am grateful for good memories to focus on in the end.

“ I have many fond memories of Norma. As I was growing up, we shared many Sundays as she and Grandma Hilma would drive down from Cadillac to Tustin for church, and come to our house for dinner. Norma made wonderful Christmas treats that she shared with us. My favorites were the peanut butter fudge with raisins and the glass candy. She was a very close family friend.
