“ I grew up calling her “Teacher”. At church Phyllis taught the Cradle Roll (first beginner baby class), and it seemed that as I grew she move on up as well, Kindergarten and then Primary classes. There were other things too through the years that she taught me. How to carry church positions and what responsible membership looked like. I really think that next to my own mother Phyllis had the most impact on me during my most formative years. She was a great example of a Godly woman. I will be eternally grateful. Someday, when we all get to Heaven, what a day of rejoicing it will be! Until that great day of resurrection, rest in peace Teacher. I hope and pray that I can continue your legacy and be a good example to the next generation like you were for me. Love B
